The Grandview Historic District

The Grandview Historic District, includes 147 private residences, Chase Park, two churches, an attorney's office and an adult care facility and was determined to be the largest and most historically intact neighborhood in the city. Properties were largely developed beginning in the early 1900's through the 1940's.

No homes within the district are open to the public, but visitors can enjoy driving through the tree-lined neighborhoods and Chase Park. St. Luke's Church is worth a visit inside the church which was designed in 1928 by architect, Harold Whitehouse.

Use the map below for driving directions.
